

9/8/2014

Haley Larsen is one of the hardest working and dedicated student's I have ever taught. She is always wanting to become a better player and understand her game more. Each year she has improved in every aspect of the game. And her scores are showing this improvement. I believe she is not even close to her total potential. What I really like about her is that she is very humble, but inside has the passion and desire to want to be the best. I have had the pleasure to be her swing coach the last four years. And Haley has really become one of my favorite students. I know during her lesson we will accomplish a goal each time we work together.

Brian Liberati

PGA Golf Professional

Carl's Golfland, Plymouth, Michigan